GENERAL STATEMENT

This document was drawn up by the organization, in line with its policy, in order to regulate the principles of conduct and action that must govern the activities of each director, manager, employee and collaborator of the Company.

The application of these principles constitutes a condition for being part of Effepierre S.p.A..

The undersigning of the values and principles contained in this document is also an essential prerequisite for establishing partnerships and relationships of collaboration in various capacities with third parties.

For this reason, this document has been drawn up with a view to regulating the principles of behavior and action that must govern the activity of every director and every employee and collaborator within the company and its supply chain.

This document has the purpose of describing some binding requirements, in order to pursue a common objective, which gives evidence of the transparency and total moral integrity of the company and of all the subjects who operate within it, as:

- Compliance with international and national legislation;
- Transparent and direct communication with all stakeholders;
- Assuming responsibility for one's actions, in terms of environmental and social sustainability.

The indications given below are inspired by various legislations, system standards (ISO 45001, ISO 14001, SA 8000 etc.), by the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child, by the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, by the ILO Conventions as well as by OECD Guidelines.

IMPORTANCE OF CONTINUOUS IMPROVEMENT

In order to continue being a leader and successfully face the challenges of the global market, in the coming years, Effepierre S.p.A. shall continue to pursue excellency. To be an excellent company means ensuring the satisfaction of all stakeholders involved: employees/collaborators, clients, suppliers, shareholders and investors, within a framework of economic, social and environmental sustainability.

In particular, Effepierre S.p.A. bases its ethical principle on the continuous improvement of health and safety conditions in the workplace and on the protection of the environment. This aspect is fundamental in the systemic management of the company, since it allows a reduction of unwanted events (e.g. near accidents, accidents, injuries, environmental emergencies...) to the advantage of greater work efficiency, the direct consequence of which is evident within the context of the company's everyday life, wherein employees can operate in a healthy environment, in the certainty that any risks are constantly managed, with greater reliability and quality.

To guarantee what stated above, compliance with the provisions of this Code of Ethics and the predisposed Organizational Model is fundamental.

CODE OF CONDUCT

The code of conduct below lists the key points that all our collaborator/employee must abide by, in order to work with passion, enthusiasm and positive energy.

Professional commitment

It is necessary to allow all internal and external collaborators to exercise their skills, to make use of their experiences and to improve themselves over time - also thanks to opportunities for professional training and constant development in order to better carry out their tasks. VIOLATIONS TO THE CODE OF ETHICS AND SANCTIONS

Control system

The Code of Ethics constitutes one of the founding elements of the control system and is an integral part of the Organizational Model, in compliance with Legislative Decree 231/2001, on the basis of which Effepierre S.p.A. is working towards adaptation.

The internal control system must be oriented towards the adoption of tools and methods aimed at countering potential business risks, in order to establish an adequate assurance regarding compliance not only with the laws but also with internal provisions and procedures.

Management must constantly ensure compliance of conduct regarding what is stated in the Code and, if necessary, carry out specific monitoring programmes.

Compliance with the rules of the Code of Ethics must be considered an essential part of the contractual obligations of employees pursuant to and for the purposes of art. 2104 of the Civil Code. It must also be considered an essential part of the contractual obligations undertaken by non-subordinate collaborators and/or subjects having business relations with Effepierre S.p.A.

The Directors and Managers of the Company are responsible for ensuring that collaborator/employee understand the Company's expectations and translate them into good practices. Managers and Supervisors must therefore ensure that the commitments set out in the Code of Ethics are implemented. In order to guarantee the effective application of the Code of Ethics, Effepierre S.p.A. – respecting privacy and individual rights – prepares information channels through which all those who become aware of any cases of non-compliance with the Code within the Company can report, freely and confidentially, to their Manager, who will communicate this to a third party identified as the President of the Board of Statutory Auditors.

All interested parties who believe they detect a discrepancy with the Code of Ethics or who wish to suggest expectations and ideas for improvement can:

- 1) Verbally report the non-compliance directly to a representative of the Gender Equality Committee;
- 2) Document the report using a closed letter, even anonymous, to be inserted in the reporting box located in the Refreshment Area, clearly indicating that this letter is intended for the Gender Equality Committee;
- 3) Using the platform <https://effepierre.tip-off.it> software for the management of whistleblowing, which allows users to report offenses with the guarantee of extreme confidentiality, both anonymously and non-anonymously (see Procedure " Whistleblowing Management" on the company website).

With reference to the news of a occurred or attempted violation of the rules contained in the Code of Ethics, the Company will be responsible for ensuring that no one, in the workplace, may suffer retaliation, illicit conditioning, inconvenience or discrimination of any kind, for having reported to the president of the Board of Statutory Auditors violation of the contents of the Code of Ethics or internal procedures. Dismissals, demotions or other changes in duties, mobbing, adoption of unjustified disciplinary measures, or any other retaliatory or discriminatory measures adopted against the person who has made the report shall not be tolerated in any way.

Furthermore, following the report, the company shall promptly perform all appropriate checks and, if necessary, impose all appropriate sanctions.

Infringements shall be prosecuted incisively, promptly and immediately, through the adoption – against those responsible for the violations, where deemed necessary for the protection of company interests and compatibly with the existing regulatory framework – of disciplinary and/or sanctioning measures, adequate and proportionate, regardless of the possible criminal relevance of such behaviours and of the decision to take legal action when these constitute a criminal offence.

The ascertained infringements on the Code of Ethics, after consultation with the President of the Board of Statutory Auditors, shall be followed by specific measures, adopted by the Human Resources Department. In coherence and in compliance with the current legal and contractual rules, ascertained violations may also result in the removal from Effepierre S.p.A. of those responsible.

Any form of retaliation against those who have reported possible violations of the Code or requests for clarification regarding its application methods also constitute infringement on the Code of Ethics.

The effects of violations of the Code of Ethics and of the internal protocols and/or procedures must be taken into serious consideration by all persons who, for whatever reason, have relations with the Company. To this end, the Company shall circulate the Code of Ethics and the internal protocols and/or procedures. It shall also give information regarding the sanctions that shall be put in place in the event of violations and the methods and procedures for the application of the sanctions.

Effepierre S.p.A., in order to protect its image and to safeguard its resources, shall not entertain relations of any kind with subjects who do not intend to operate in strict compliance with the current legislation and/or refuse to behave in accordance with the values and principles set out in the Code of Ethics and
